Background

Making the steel industry a trailblazer in education and training

Launched in 2010, the worldsteel Steelie Awards recognise member companies for their contribution to the steel industry over a one-year period in a series of categories impacting the steel industry. The Steelies are awarded each year at worldsteel's General Assembly in October.

The selection process for nominations varies between awards. In most cases nominations are requested via the appropriate membership committee and the worldsteel extranet. Entries are then judged by selected expert panels using agreed performance criteria. Some general rules apply:

- Only entries from worldsteel members are accepted and all dues must have been paid
- An entry from multiple members will be accepted, but in the event of a tie priority will be given to a single member entry
- National and regional associations may only enter on behalf of their own organisation and not as a combined entry with all or some of their members
- Multiple entries from a single member will be accepted. But it should be noted that the Steelie experience is that quality wins over quantity. We recommend that maximum effort behind a few entries pays a better dividend
- By making an entry the member gives permission to worldsteel for the contents to be used for communications and promotion activities
- All marking and comments are confidential and will not be made available. The judges' decisions are final

The first Excellence in education and training award was given in 2013. Previous award recipients are as follows:

- 2022 Ternium
- 2021 HBIS Group
- 2020 Tata Steel Limited
- 2019 Ternium
- 2018 Tata Steel Europe
- 2017 Nucor
- 2016 Tenaris
- 2015 Tata Steel Europe
- 2014 Tenaris
- 2013 Tenaris

Nominations for excellence in education and training

Excellence in education and training is based on two criteria. The first is participation in worldsteel's education and training activities. The second is demonstration of a current programme undertaken by the company that is an example of excellence in education and training practise.

The period of the award is July to July each year. Therefore, the participation in worldsteel activities and implementation of the training programme example must be within this time-period. For the 2023 award, the time-period is July 2022 through July 2023.

Judging criteria

Nominations will be reviewed by a minimum of 3 judges. At least 2 of the judges will be independent of worldsteel. Participation in worldsteel education and training activities (part I) accounts for 50% of the total score, with an example of an excellent and current programme in education and training (part II) accounting for the other 50%.

The submission of a nomination for this award shall include the following:

- Completed form part I indicating involvement in worldsteel education and training activities
- Completed form part II, example of excellent and current programme in education and training, including:
    - 250-word description of the nominated programme
    - 1-page summary of the nominated programme which addresses each of the criteria for evaluation of the nominated programme
    - Provision of print quality images and/or graphics to support the nomination
    - Confirmation the nominated programme was substantially undertaken between July 2022 through July 2023
    - Completion of the checklist to confirm all requirements are met, and confirmation worldsteel may use information provided in the nomination for promotional purposes

Nominations deadline

Nominations will be accepted until Friday, 4th August 2023. Submissions made after this date will not be reviewed. Please complete the form as it stands and do not create custom forms. If you would like to provide additional material as evidence, you can do so, but as separate attachments only.
